oh, how full of briers is this
working day world!
(as you like it)

for many men that stumble at the threshold
are well foretold that danger lurks within.

(king henry vi)

ceremony was but devis'd at first
to set a gloss on faint deeds,
hollow welcomes
recanting goodness, sorry ere
'tis shown;
but where there is true friendship,
there needs none.

(timon of athens)

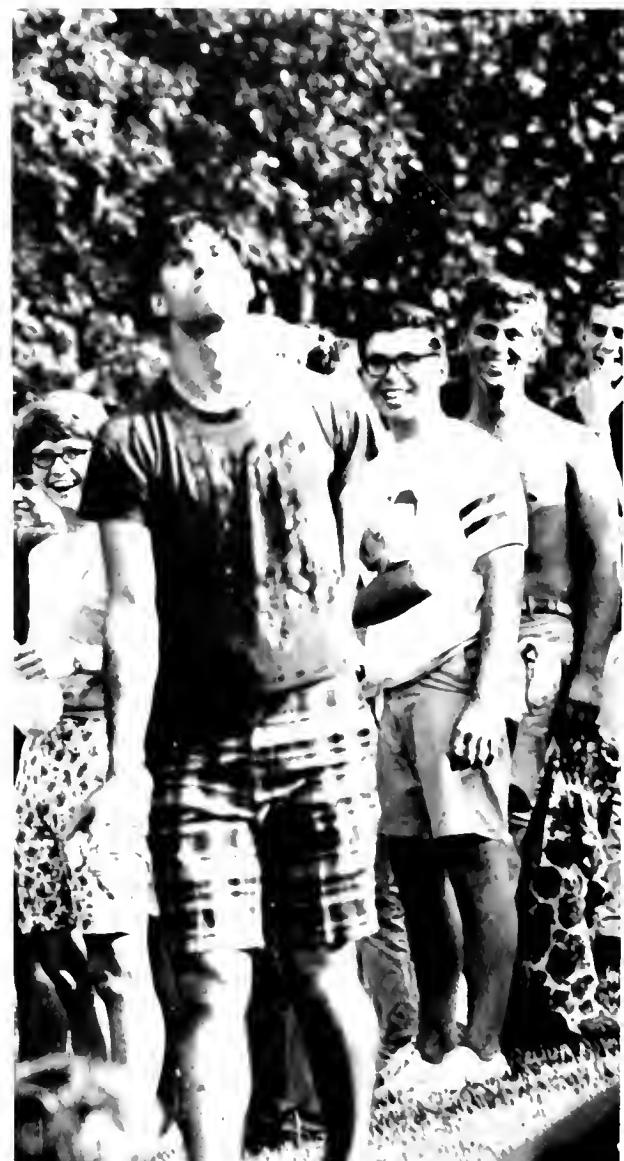

these most brisk and giddy-
paced times.
(twelfth night)

they laugh that win.
(othello)

if we should fail,—

we fail!

but screw your courage to the sticking
place,
and we'll not fail.

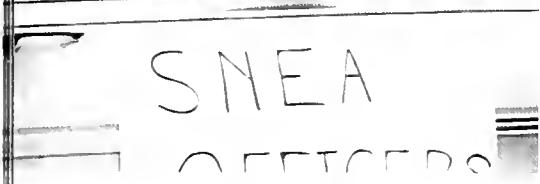

(macbeth)

appetite, a universal wolf.
(troilus and cressida)

there is a history in all men's lives.
(king henry iv)

oh, what a rogue and
and peasant slave am I!
(hamlet)

there is language
in her, her cheek,
her lip.

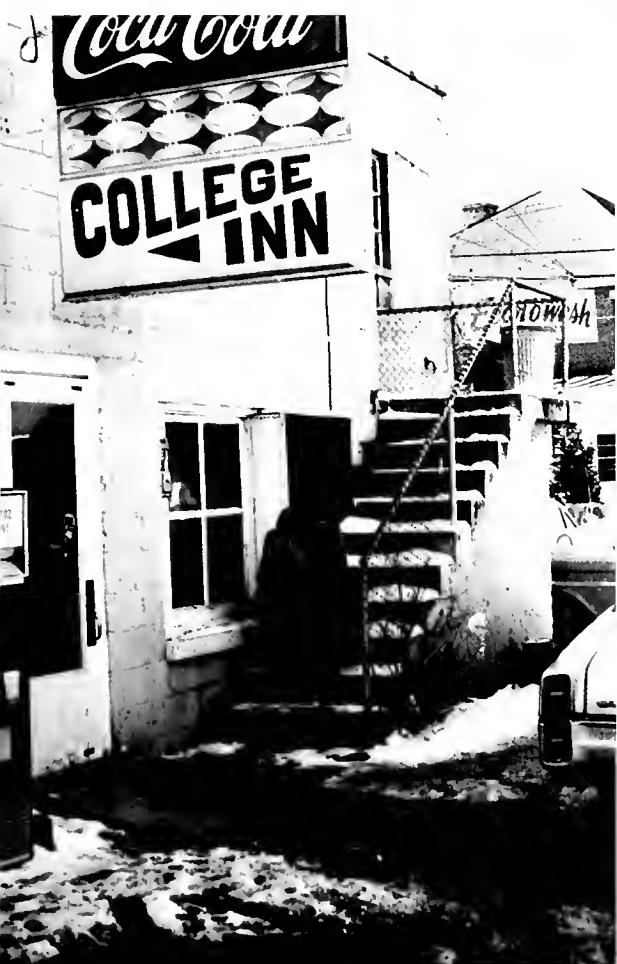

(troilus and cressida)

let's do it after the high
roman fashion.
(anthony and cleopatra)

we few, we happy few, we band of brothers.
(king henry v)

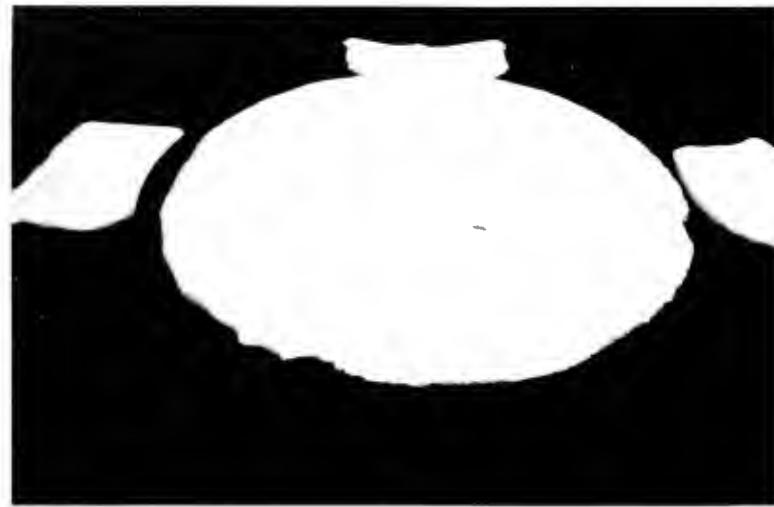

small cheer and great
welcome makes a merry
feast.
(measure for measure)

i thank you for your voices; thank you,
your most sweet voices.
(coriolanus)

now o'er the one half-world
nature seems dead.
(macbeth)

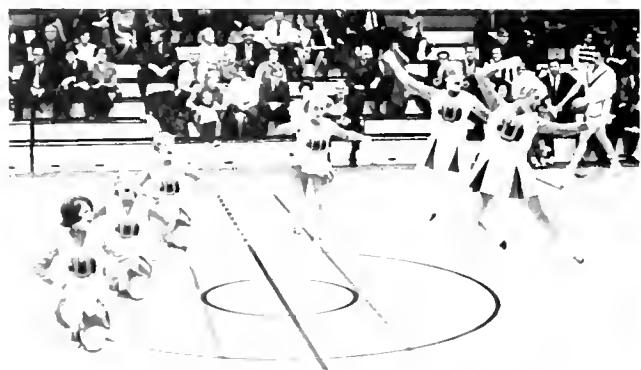

thus play i, in one person, many people, and none contented.

(king richard ii)

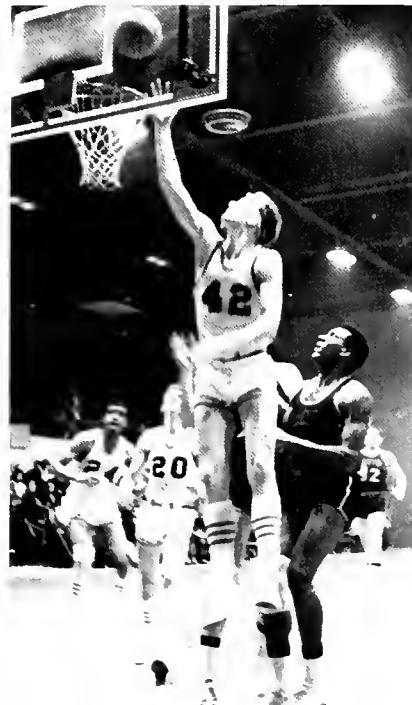

but when the blast of war blows in our ears,
then imitate the action of the tiger
stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood.

(king henry v)

who can be wise, amazed, temperate
and furious,
loyal and neutral, in a moment?
(macbeth)

'tis ever common
that men are merriest when they are
away from home.
(king henry v)

now comes in the sweetest morsel of the night, and we must hence and
leave it unpicked.

(king henry vi)

gallop a pace, you fiery-footed steeds.

(romeo and juliet)

'tis not enough to help the feeble up,
but to support him after.
(timon of athens)

come, give us a taste of your quality.
(hamlet)

life's but a walking shadow: a poor player that struts and frets his hour upon the stage
and then is heard no more.

(macbeth)

eat no onions nor garlic, for we are to utter sweet breath.
(a midsummer's night dream)

fleet the time carelessly, as they did in the golden world.
(as you like it)

let the world slip: we shall ne'er be younger.
(the taming of the shrew)

a rhapsody of words
(hamlet)

how weary, stale, flat and unprofitable
seem to me all the uses of this world!
(hamlet)

the royal banner and all quality,
pride, pomp, and circumstance . . .!
(othello)

the general theme of this yearbook has been those who did this includes those who did have their individual pictures taken, those who did turn in their information sheets, and those who did actively partake in the activities of the college community

I wish to thank Joe Manwan for the many hours he spent in the darkroom and the Student Senate for their endorsement of a fall delivery and their financial support
